Dear Professor Bernacer:

Upon my return from Texas I find on my desk complimentary copy of your "Report on the New Basis of Money and Credit". As always, I am pleased to be remembered by you with your productions and I will write you later concerning my reaction to this document when my campus routine has settled down to a more normal phase of activity. In the meantime, permit me to thank you for sending me this document.

With kind regards and best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
