

Madrid (Spain) the 24th Oct. 1945

Prof Howard S. Ellis
University of California
Berkeley (U. S. A.)

Dear Professor:

Some time ago I sent you a few Spanish pamphlets containing in full my monetary theory. I am able to day to hand you an English abridged version. It is a very sober synthesis and perhaps its English is not very happy, but I hope it will be of some aid to the English economists who read not Spanish. If you or a graduate student of your acquaintance would read my paper and expound me his criticisms, he will make me a valuable service permitting me to improve my exposition.

In the hope of your advice, I remain your faithful

By ordinary post I send you an Offprint of an article of Prof. Robertson in "Economica" on an early work of mine.
